147

Africa - Egypt

1244

WHAT EGYPT NEEDS.

THE WITNESS AND TESTIMONY OF THE EGYPT GENERAL MISSION.

A FAREWELL meeting, under the auspices of the Egypt General Mission, was held at Drayton Park, on Thursday afternoon. The meeting was not very largely attended, but "where two or three are gathered in My name," God has promised, and His Presence was plainly felt in the midst of that little company of people gathered to say farewell to two sisters returning to the field.

Mr. P. K. Allen presided, and, reading from Genesis xlv., he based his remarks on Joseph's words, "Go, tell of all my glory." And that was the message he gave to the missionaries. "Go, tell," he said, "of His glory, to those people out there in the darkness. It is the one thing that Egypt needs, and it is only as He is uplifted and exalted that souls will be won."

Mr. Logan drew attention to the fact of how God has answered their prayers in the matter of permits for these missionaries. It had been no easy matter to obtain them, but after much prayer the permits have been received.

Sister F. E. Collett and Sister A. Liblik are both nurses returning to Shebin-el-Kanater. Both spoke of the difficulties they have to face out in that Moslem land, and also their needs, especially of their urgent need for doctors. They dwelt much upon the fact of how much they would be helped by the prayers of those at home. "Do not let us get weary of praying," said Miss Liblik. "Let us pray on and work on until we see the Lord Jesus Christ."

The Rev. G. C. Grubb, M.A., gave a farewell message, basing his remarks on St. John's attitudes towards Jesus, which, he said, could be summed up into four things: First, we find John "leaning on the bosom of Jesus"; secondly, we find him "standing at the Cross"; thirdly, "following Jesus," and lastly, "witnessing for Him." He then pointed out how we, as Christians, and the missionaries must do the same—lean on His bosom, stand at His Cross, and follow and witness for Him.

"Life of Faith"
Nov. 7, 1917